I. Description

This course will address the academic, practical, and spiritual foundations of theatre with two emphases: (1) how the believer artist impacts the culture and reclaims the art form, and (2) beginning performance techniques and strategies for the actor. It will cover basic relaxation techniques, voice and diction, goal, obstacle, tactics, expectation, and two forms of beginning script analysis. This course will equip the student to deliver believable, natural performances. (*Interdisciplinary Bible Course) (This course may be taken as a General Education elective)

III. Required Materials

- ❖ The Bible is a required textbook in every course at Calvary University. To facilitate academic level study, students are required to use for assignments and research an English translation or version of the Bible based on formal equivalence (meaning that the translation is generally word-for-word from the original languages), including any of the following: New American Standard (NASB, English Standard Version (ESV), New King James (NKJV), or King James (KJV). Other translations and versions based on dynamic equivalence (paraphrases, and thought-for-thought translations like NLT and NIV) may be used as supplemental sources. Please ask the professor if you have questions about a particular translation or version.

* Please note that some of the materials assigned for class contain occasionally inappropriate language. Although this language is not pervasive, it is not condoned in class, nor do I approve of it; however, the ideas presented in these materials are so powerful as to warrant a sifting of their contents to separate the wheat from the chaff. There is a constant tension for the believer artist in regard to how best to honor God, how best to be culturally relevant, how best to offer hope where the world offers despair. This tension is, however, inherent for any believer, but particularly so for the artist. If any of you think this material could be potentially offensive, please contact me ahead of class.

Policies

A great story is about someone who wants something so badly they overcome conflict and obstacles to get it! You’re here to get an education, right? There are so many obstacles to getting an education - money, time, the draw of relationships, cars that only work when it’s over fifty degrees, coming down with chicken pox, ad infinitum! Just don’t let attendance be the obstacle that gets you!

Theatre and creativity are hands-on activities; your presence in class is important. Theatre classes need you as much as you need them! The trust and dynamic necessary to creating good theatre doesn't happen in a vacuum. These courses are hands-on, minds and bodies engaged, full steam ahead!

- ❖ Calvary University has no official attendance policy. Students are responsible to the class instructor for work missed during an absence for any cause. When classes are missed due to official school sponsored events or functions the sponsoring faculty should submit a list of affected students to the Academic Office who will then make the list available to all instructors to verify excused absences.
- ❖ Class Withdrawal: in no case is the cessation of class attendance taken as an intent to withdraw from or drop a course. In order to officially withdraw from a class, the student must notify the Registrar's Office. (Please see the Refund Policy in the Finances section of this catalog for information about withdrawing from a class.)
- ❖ Written Assignments are due via email by midnight of the date assigned, but preferably by class time. Papers and reading assignments must be completed on time. Work not completed on time will be graded down accordingly.
 - A paper or written assignment will go down one full grade if it isn't turned in by the due date.
 - After that, the letter grade will go down one full grade every three days the assignment is late.
 - After that time, it will receive no credit.
 - If the student does not complete the final exam (scene work in WinterShorts), he/she will automatically fail the class.
 - If the student doesn't participate and/or is not prepared for 9 in-class acting exercises, he/she will automatically fail the class.
- ❖ Students with disabilities have the responsibility of informing the Accommodations Support Coordinator (aso@calvary.edu) of any disabling condition that may require support.
- ❖ All class papers must follow the Turabian style according to A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 8th edition and the Calvary Style Guide, 2019 update.
- ❖ Plagiarism is defined as copying any part of a book or paper without identifying the author. This also includes taking another person's ideas and presenting them as your own.
